SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Confidential U.S. State Department Central Files, 1955–1959

The U.S. State Department Central Files are the definitive source of American diplomatic reporting on political, military, social, and economic developments throughout the world in the twentieth century. This edition consists of the Central Files for France for the period between 1955 and 1959. The files are arranged according to the State Department Decimal Filing System, 1950–January 1963. The subjects from the filing system included in this edition are decimal numbers 651 and 611.51 (France foreign affairs and U.S. relations with France) for 1955–1959. Reel 4 contains files with decimal numbers 652.71 (Spain relations with Morocco).

Emerging from the postwar period, France confronted the disruption and disintegration of control over its overseas possessions in the decade of the 1950s. During this period, France's colonial affairs focused on independence struggles in Northern Africa and Southeast Asia. With strong nationalist movements, Algeria, Tunisia, and Morocco sought the termination of French rule and the establishment of self-government. After years of fighting, French Indochina splintered into the autonomous nations of Cambodia, Laos, and North and South Vietnam during the early half of the decade. France's ties with the former colonies in Africa and Asia provide the subject matter for a large part of this collection.

In North Africa, the pressure of civil disorders forced France to withdraw its rights in Morocco and Tunisia, and both possessions gained independence in 1956. Many documents in Reels 5 and 6 cover the role of Prime Minister Habib Bourguiba in Tunisia's negotiations with France. Other documents detail the crisis in Tunisia concerning the evacuation of French troops and French naval installations at Bizerte. Materials in the collection also show that France's military presence created tensions in Morocco. Documents in Reel 4 pertain to the treaties and agreements between Morocco and France regarding air navigation, economic loans, judicial conventions, and military aid. Documents in Reel 4 also outline the meetings between Morocco's King Mohammed V and Charles de Gaulle in 1959.

Algeria's path to self-rule proved longer than Morocco's and Tunisia's because Algeria did not gain independence until 1962 after many years of rebellion. The National Liberation Front (FLN), a radical Muslim group, carried out attacks against the French in Algeria. Documents in Reel 5 describe guerrilla activities on Algeria's border with Tunisia.

French colonial domination in Southeast Asia effectively ended with acceptance of the Geneva Conference agreements in 1954. Documents in Reel 1 cover the military negotiations between France and Vietnam during 1955 and 1956. Documents in Reel 2 provide an overview of French economic influence and diplomatic relations with Laos after its independence.

Political relations between France and the United States (611.51) are another large category in the collection, from Reels 8 through 11. Materials cover anti-U.S.

sentiment in France; talks between Dwight D. Eisenhower and Charles de Gaulle; and negotiations of a treaty of friendship, commerce, and navigation. Other documents address the royalty turnover tax, air transport services agreements, and an atomic energy treaty.

Documents on France's relations with other countries appear in the collection. Reel 3 contains documents regarding the developments in rapprochement between France and Spain, establishment of air carrier service by Aeroflot and Air France between Moscow and Paris, and talks between Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

This collection consists generally of cables and letters sent and received by U.S. diplomats and embassy personnel; reports on meetings between U.S. and foreign government officials and leaders; newspaper clippings; transcripts of speeches; and reports and observations on political, military, and economic affairs. Many materials are in the French language.

SOURCE NOTE

LexisNexis microfilmed these documents from the holdings of the National Archives, College Park, Maryland, Record Group 59: Records of the Department of State, Central Decimal Files, decimal numbers 651 and 611.51 (France foreign affairs and U.S. relations with France) for the period 1955–1959. LexisNexis has microfilmed all available original documents.

ORGANIZATION OF THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF STATE DECIMAL FILING SYSTEM

From 1910 to 1963 the Department of State used a decimal classification system to organize its Central Files. This system assembled and arranged individual documents according to their subject with each subject having been assigned a specific decimal code. The decimal system from 1950 to January 1963 consists of ten primary classifications numbered 0 through 9, each covering a broad subject area.

CLASS 0: Miscellaneous.

CLASS 1: Administration of the United States Government.

CLASS 2: Protection of Interests (Persons and Property).

CLASS 3: International Conferences, Congresses, Meetings, and Organizations.

CLASS 4: International Trade and Commerce. Trade Relations, Customs Administration.

CLASS 5: International Informational and Educational Relations. Cultural Affairs. Psychological Warfare.

CLASS 6: International Political Relations. Bilateral Treaties.

CLASS 7: Internal Political and National Defense Affairs.

CLASS 8: Internal Economic, Industrial, and Social Affairs.

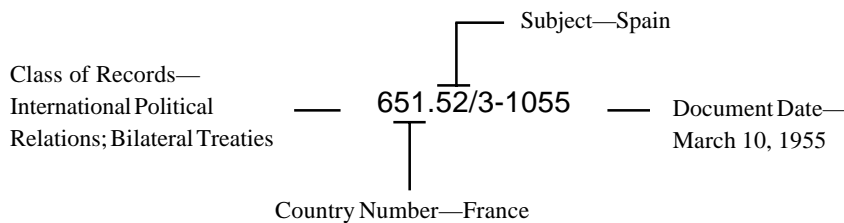

CLASS 9: Other Internal Affairs. Communications. Transportation. Science.

Foreign Affairs

For this section of the U.S. State Department Central Files, LexisNexis has microfilmed the documents contained in Class 6. Within this class each subject is defined by a decimal file number. The decimal file number is followed by a slant mark (/). The number after the slant mark (/) refers to the date on which the document was generated. Documents within each decimal file number are arranged in chronological order. The entire decimal file number is stamped on the right side of the first page of every document. In this publication, for example, records classified 651 deal with the foreign policy of France and its political relations with other nations.

In a small number of instances, documents were assigned erroneous or incomplete decimal numbers. LexisNexis has included, in brackets, corrected decimal entries. In addition, misfiled decimal number documents have also been included in brackets.

CLASS 6. Example, 651.52/3-1055

651.52/3-1055 indicates a document dated March 10, 1955, relating to the bilateral relations between France (51) and Spain (52).

Note: Whenever the documents under a specific classification number total more than one hundred pages, the guide writer provides a breakdown of the material by month and year. When applicable, the guide writer lists, in brackets under the classification number, major subjects that are covered throughout all of the months. The guide writer may list additional major subjects but only under the particular month and year in which they appear.

REEL INDEX

Entries in the index refer to specific documents within Confidential U.S. State Department Central Files, France, 1955–1959, Foreign Affairs. The documents are arranged according to the U.S. State Department's decimal filing system. See the Organization of the U.S. Department of State Filing System section of this guide for a brief description of this system, as well as sample Reel Index entries. For some decimal numbers, the guide writer has included additional topics (enclosed in brackets) following the decimal description. In addition, whenever the documents under a specific classification number total more than one hundred pages, the guide writer provides a breakdown of the material by month and year. When applicable, the guide writer lists, in brackets under the classification number, major subjects that are covered throughout all of the months. The guide writer may list additional major subjects but only under the particular month and year in which they appear.

LexisNexis has filmed these documents as they are filed at the National Archives. In some instances, there are documents that appear to have been misclassified by the State Department. In these instances, the guide writer has included in brackets corrected decimal entries. In addition, misfiled decimal number documents have also been included in brackets.

The four-digit number on the far left represents the frame number at which a particular decimal classification begins.
