THE FELIX FRANKFURTER PAPERS

The Court Papers of Felix Frankfurter (1882-1965), attorney, educator, public servant, and judge, were presented to the Harvard Law School as a gift under the terms of his will, dated May 8, 1959. The bulk of these papers was received by the Law School in September 1962. Mrs. Elsie Douglas, who had been Justice Frankfurter's secretary for many years and who was given authority under the terms of the above-mentioned will to decide on the scope of the Court Papers, determined that Frankfurter's Sacco-Vanzetti papers should be included in the Court Papers, and these files were transferred to the Harvard Law School Library in April 1966. Small groups of additional materials have been received since that time, essentially from family and friends of the Justice.

Access to these papers is governed by the rules and regulations of the Harvard Law School Library in general, and its Manuscript Division in particular. In addition, direct access is controlled by Professor Paul A. Freund of the Harvard Law School (for details, see letter of Felix Frankfurter to Mrs. Elsie Douglas, dated July 19, 1962, in the Manuscript Office, Case File: Original Correspondence).

Literary rights to these papers have not been dedicated to the public.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Court Papers of Felix Frankfurter span the years 1900 to 1965, the bulk of the material falling into the period of his active years on the Supreme Court of the United States, 1939 to 1962.

The collection contains correspondence (both letters received and carbons of those sent); handwritten, typed, and printed drafts; slip sheets; proof sheets; lists and tabulations; loose-leaf folders of typed material; memoranda; reports; dockets; bibliographies; research materials and notes; legal and legislative documents; clippings; other printed items such as books, pamphlets, reprints of articles and speeches (some inscribed, some with marginalia); photos; microfilm; phonograph records; and items of memorabilia such as honorary degree certificates.

The bulk of the papers consists of Frankfurter's case files of opinions and memoranda (168 MS boxes and seven bound volumes), spanning the years 1939 to 1962. Frankfurter retained his files for all the cases in which he wrote opinions of the Court, concurrences with the majority, dissents, concurrences in dissents, and memoranda. Case files run anywhere from one folder to forty folders relating to Arizona v. California, 370 U.S. 906, 930; forty-two folders for McGowan v. Maryland, 366 U.S. 420; and forty-three folders for Baker v. Carr, 369 U.S. 186. Some or all of the following materials may be found in these case files: first drafts, usually typed, with corrections; the various stages of printings of the opinions, also with handwritten corrections and/or additions; research materials such as copies of law review articles; research notes and memos by the law clerks; memos of Frankfurter to his clerks; his memoranda to the weekly conference of the Justices; correspondence with the other Justices relating to particular points in Frankfurter's drafts; the circulation of a copy of the final printing of the opinion to each of the other Justices, with their signatures and responses on the reverse of the last page; copies of exhibits introduced in Court; fan mail; and clippings.

Additional materials on three major cases, namely Ex parte Quirin, 317 U.S. 1; United States v. Westinghouse, 339 U.S. 261; and California v. Arizona, 370 U.S. 906, 930; were placed in Paige Boxes (commercial 12" by 15" cartons) #12, #15, #16, #17, and #18. Also placed in Paige Boxes were Justice Frankfurter's blackbound set of all of his opinions (twenty-four volumes), together with memoranda that he circulated but did not publish, containing subsequent annotations bearing on these cases, and the bound Journals of the Supreme Court (seventeen volumes).

Complementing this segment of the Justice's papers are fourteen MS boxes of Court Miscellany, consisting of these major groups: Frankfurter's correspondence with the Justices who sat on the bench with him; correspondence with administrative officers of the Court, e.g., clerks, marshals, and librarians; personnel and other matters pertaining to his law clerks; materials relating to Supreme Court committees on which Frankfurter served, e.g., the Rules Committee; twenty-four folders of mail received commenting on or criticizing specific opinions of Frankfurter; a subject file of background material and memos relating to particular issues involved in some of the appeals, such as church and state, civil liberties, contempt, freedom of speech, habeas corpus, juries, patents, press and crime, and wiretapping.

These two series (Series A. Case Files of Opinions and Memoranda and Series B. Court Miscellany) are a rich field for the researcher, as they cover an extensive span of years, a time of dramatic changes in the make-up of the Court, and a period of divisive national issues. Besides documenting the step-by-step process of a judge's opinion writing, they illustrate other day-to-day concerns of the Justices, such as certiorari decisions, calendar and appointment matters, and relations with the nonjudicial administrators of the Court. Of special significance in these two series are Frankfurter's exchanges with his "brethren." Comments on cases in which he himself was writing are contained in the individual files for specific cases. Cases in which the other Justices were writing and general Court matters are discussed in Subseries B.1.. Correspondence with Justices. Major correspondents in Series B. Court Miscellany, are Hugo L. Black, William J. Brennan, Harold H. Burton, Pierce Butler, James F. Byrnes, Henry P. Chandler, Tom C. Clark, Charles E. Cropley, William O. Douglas, John M. Harlan, Charles Evans Hughes, Robert H. Jackson, James C. McReynolds, Sherman Minton, Frank Murphy, Warren Olney, Stanley F. Reed, Owen J. Roberts, Wiley Rutledge, Potter Stewart, Harlan Fiske Stone, Fred M. Vinson, Earl Warren, Byron R. White, and Charles E. Whittaker. Frankfurter's correspondence with Harlan F. Stone (500 items) commenced in 1925, and includes general, professional, and personal matters written up to 1939.

Although Justice Frankfurter did not write the opinion in Brown v. Board of Education, 347 U.S. 483, the landmark school desegregation case decided in 1954, his twenty-eight folders relating to this case illuminate the endeavors of Frankfurter and his associates who urgently pressed for, and in the end obtained, a unanimous decision (written by Chief Justice Earl Warren). These files also contain his law clerk Alexander Bickel's research materials and drafts for, and Frankfurter's memorandum on "The Legislative History of the Fourteenth Amendment."

Throughout the years following his resignation from the Harvard Law School faculty in January 1939, Justice Frankfurter remained intensely loyal to Harvard. For instance, all of his law clerks were chosen for him from the editorial board of the Harvard Law Review. His correspondence and subject files in Series C. Harvard Miscellany, document his lively interest in and concern for teaching trends, searches for top officers of the university (especially for the presidency in 1953), appointments in general, fund raising, scholarship, and publication matters, and his participation in special events such as the John Marshall Bicentennial celebration and conference at the Harvard Law School titled "Government under Law," at which Frankfurter delivered the opening address. Correspondence is with his former Harvard colleagues, with Harvard alumni, and with his law clerks after their clerkship year. There is a certain amount of material pertaining to his own teaching years, e.g., class assignments and examination questions. His files for the Harvard Crime Survey (1926-1933) were transferred to the Manuscript Division at a later time, and may be found in Series G, Addenda 1, Additions, 1966-1976. Major correspondents in the Harvard Miscellany group of papers are: Alexander M. Bickel, Zechariah Chafee, Jr., Grenville Clark, James B. Conant, Paul A. Freund, Erwin N. Griswold, Henry M. Hart, Mark DeWolfe Howe, Andrew L. Kaufman, Philip B. Kurland, James M. Landis, Calvert Magruder, Edmund M. Morgan, Roscoe Pound, and Thomas Reed Powell.

Biographical-bibliographical items in the Frankfurter papers consist essentially of responses of his many friends to his elevation to the Supreme Court of the United States in January 1939. Other items are of a peripheral nature, e.g., invitations to social functions and reprints of speeches. The Stanford bibliography of December 1962 (unpublished) is included.

Among the materials that receive some of the heaviest use in the Frankfurter collection are his Sacco-Vanzetti files, which were transferred to the Manuscript Division in 1966 and 1970. These papers cover the years 1920 to 1935, the main body falling in the 1927 and 1928 period. Essentially they consist of correspondence relating to Frankfurter's Atlantic Monthly article and book on the case, the pronouncement of the death sentence by Judge Webster Thayer, Frankfurter's newspaper controversy with Dean John Henry Wigmore of Northwestern University Law School, the report of the Lowell Committee, last minute efforts to save the two men, post-execution reactions, and the plans for and publication of the transcript of the Dedham trial, together with Vanzetti's Plymouth trial transcript, by Henry Holt and Company (1929), including fund-raising efforts for this project. Major correspondents include: Charles C. Burlingham, Elizabeth Glendower Evans, Bernard Flexner, Osmond K. Fraenkel, Robert Grant, Norman Hapgood, Arthur Dehon Hill, Julian Mack, John F. Moors, and William G. Thompson, the counsel for the defense during 1926-1927. Clippings and pamphlet folders contain many items that are now out of print or difficult to obtain, such as material about or originated by the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee.

The importance of this group of materials is enhanced by the existence of two other equally significant groups of Sacco-Vanzetti materials in the Manuscript Division, namely the Defense and Prosecution files (twenty-six MS boxes), which are strong for the 1920 to 1926 period, and Herbert B. Ehrmann's research for his two books and his Harvard Law Review article on the case. The latter group covers the period 1926 to 1966 (eighteen MS boxes), and it includes a complete file of letters received from Frankfurter, a close friend of Ehrmann's, a Boston attorney and junior counsel for the defense from May 1926 to August 1927. Two separate sets of scrapbooks containing original clippings and cartoons relating to the case are among the holdings of the Law Library's Treasure Room.

The single most important correspondence sequence in Harvard's Frankfurter papers is the letters which he received from his long-time close friend Learned Hand, U.S. District Court Judge for the Southern District of New York (1909-1924) and U.S. Court of Appeals Judge for the Second Circuit (1924-1961). These letters cover a span of fifty years (1911 to Hand's death in 1961), and the twenty-five folders contain close to 600 items. This exchange, being utterly candid, makes a unique source for the documentation of the personal lives of these two men, their triumphs and tribulations, their hopes and frustrations. The correspondence is of a personal nature, discussing personal matters, Harvard University in general and the Law School in particular, mutual friends, national politics, the New Republic and its editors, the Supreme Court and its personalities. This particular group is additionally enhanced by the existence of Frankfurter's letters to Learned Hand in the Learned Hand papers of the Harvard Law School. That sequence consists of 926 items, beginning with 1910 and ending in 1961.

Since the initial transfer of the bulk of the Frankfurter papers, important additions have been received. These include memorabilia, photos, honorary degree citations, printed items, and significant correspondence files. These correspondence files may be original letters that the donors had received from Frankfurter or photocopies of such letters. As the letters of some of these recipients addressed to Frankfurter are in Series A and B, several of the sequences complement each other. Major correspondents in Series G. Addenda are: Alexander M. Bickel, Carl A.L. Binger, Herrman L. Blumgart, McGeorge Bundy, Grenville Clark, Alfred E. Cohn, Walter D. Fisher, Paul A. Freund, Augustus Noble Hand, Irving J. Helman, Louis Henkin, James W. Hurst, Eldon R. James, Wilber G. Katz, Philip B. Kurland, Wilmarth Sheldon Lewis, Vincent L. McKusick, Daniel K. Mayers, Nathaniel L. Nathanson, E. Barrett Prettyman, Jr., Walter V. Schaefer, Robert E. Sherwood, Arthur E. Sutherland, and Abraham Tulin.

Both sides of the correspondence between Felix Frankfurter and Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., spanning the years 1912 to 1934, are contained in the Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. papers, also in the Manuscript Division of the Harvard Law School Library. This correspondence (413 letters) consists of the original letters exchanged between the two men and typescripts prepared by the late Professor Mark DeWolfe Howe of the Harvard Law School in preparation for his biography of Justice Holmes.

Additional Frankfurter letters, in most cases complete sequences, may be found in the papers of the following in the Manuscript Division of the Harvard Law School Library: Charles C. Burlingham, Zechariah Chafee, Jr., Lon L. Fuller, Sheldon Glueck, Henry M. Hart, Mark DeWolfe Howe, Manley O. Hudson, John M. Maguire, Calvert Magruder, Edmund M. Morgan, Roscoe Pound, Thomas Reed Powell, David Schwartz, Austin W. Scott, and Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr.

The Harvard Law School Library holds ten volumes of handwritten student notes that Felix Frankfurter took while a student at the Harvard Law School. These notes cover the following courses: Bills and Notes; Conflict of Laws; Corporations; Criminal Law; Equity III (Quasi-Contracts); Partnership; Pleading; Property I and III; and Torts. In addition, the Library holds notes of students in courses that Frankfurter taught. All of these notebooks are entered in the Library's card catalog.

The bulk of Felix Frankfurter's correspondence/subject/writings files was presented by him to the Library of Congress. His Zionist papers were deposited with Hebrew University in Israel, and his letters to Louis D. Brandeis are at the University of Louisville. The handwritten notes of Frankfurter's interviews with Justice Brandeis during the summers of 1922-1926 are in the Harvard Law School's Louis D. Brandeis papers. The Library of Congress has published a microfilm edition of its contingent of Felix Frankfurter papers. See The Papers of Felix Frankfurter (microform), Library of Congress, Manuscript Division, 1983.

[Note: The following is a list of material in the collection of Felix Frankfurter Papers that UPA did not film. Closed files contain papers related to official Harvard Law School matters. Persons seeking access should address requests to: The Manuscripts Librarian, Special Collections Department, Harvard Law School Library, Cambridge, MA 02138.

Philip Kurland and Grenville Clark retain literary rights to their material; hence the photocopies were not filmed. Copies of the opinions in Paige Boxes 1 through 5 can be found, along with extensive background documentation, in the case files in Parts I and II of this guide; opinions are also available in U.S. Reports. Material in Paige Boxes 6 and 7 either is copyrighted or is available through other sources. Items in Paige Boxes 13 through 18 are also available through other sources, such as law schools or Supreme Court records and briefs.

UPA routinely does not film objects, photos, etc., as in the list of Additions, 1977-1982, nor can we film tapes (Additions, 1983-1985). Photographs have been transferred to the Art Collection. Inquiries should be addressed to: Curator, Art Collection, Special Collections Department, Harvard Law School Library, Cambridge, MA 02138.]
