Introduction

The Genealogy and Local History Collection is an on-going program which assembles and preserves on microfiche printed works tracing family lineages and American history. The goal of the program is to provide on microfiche all printed American genealogies and United States local history materials. Materials in each part are divided into four major categories: genealogy, genealogical serials, local history, and primary sources. Some units do not include genealogical serials or primary source material.

Part 72 of the collection contains 817 titles and includes the following sections:

Genealogy	G10298-G10931 (957 microfiche)
Genealogical Serials	GS359-GS369 (39 microfiche)
Local History	LH19078-LH19249 (789 microfiche)

Unique document numbers consisting of a one or two-letter mnemonic representing the subject category and a number identifying the particular document within that category have been assigned to each title; for example, G 1054 would represent the subject category "Genealogy" with 1,054 being the consecutive number of the title published within this category.

All items in this unit have been descriptively cataloged according to the provisions of the Anglo-American Cataloging Rules, Second Edition. Standard Library of Congress subject headings (9th edition and supplements) were also utilized. Cataloging data has been entered into OCLC and RLIN databases via the Major Microforms project, thus offering on-line access. The cataloging data has also been used to create the guide.

For the convenience of the user, a detailed description of the contents of Parts 1-72 has been provided beginning on page xi.

ACCESS TO THE MICROFICHE

The collection is contained on 1,785 silver halide polyester microfiches with a reduction ratio of 24:1. In order to facilitate retrieval of the titles, each fiche includes an eye-legible header with the document number (which is also the fiche number) on the left-hand side, followed by brief author, title, and imprint information. The number of fiche occupied by the title is given at the right.

Sample Fiche Header:

HOW TO USE THE GUIDE

The guide provides access to the collection by authors, titles, subjects, geographic areas, and names, as well as by fiche (document) number. Full bibliographic entries are provided only in the Fiche Number Index, while the other indexes supply very brief information. All initial articles have been disregarded in filing and a letter-by-letter filing sequence is used.

Fiche Number Index

Entries in this section are arranged in the order in which they appear on the microfiche. They provide full bibliographic information including author name and dates, complete title, imprint, collation, descriptive notes, fiche count, fiche/document number, and OCLC number. The sample entry below illustrates the bibliographic components of each entry.

Sample Entry:

	FICHE/DOCUMENT NUMBER

	OCLC no. 19227572
	OCLC NUMBER

Author Index

The Author Index provides the names of all authors for works in Part 72. For works with more than one author, citations for all authors have been included.

Title Index

The Title Index is a short title list alphabetically arranged for all works in Part 72.

Subject Index

The Subject Index provides an alphabetical list of the Library of Congress subject headings assigned during cataloging of Part 72.

Geographic Index

The Geographic Index is arranged alphabetically by state, with subdivisions within the states. These subdivisions include (1) geographic areas or regions, i.e. "Virginia Shenandoah Valley" or, "New York (State) Long Island", (2) counties, (3) townships, and (4) cities or municipalities. General works, such as state histories and state military records, state archives, or state-oriented genealogical series will be listed under the general state headings. Works concerning a particular locality will be filed both under the appropriate county and the township or city/municipality. A user interested in works on a particular area should be sure to check both of these subdivisions.

Name Index

The Name Index provides access to all family and individual names found on the title pages for all works in Part 72, and should be particularly helpful in accessing the genealogies. This index provides four types of entries:

TYPE OF ENTRY	DESCRIPTION	EXAMPLE
(1) principal work	work principally concerns itself with this family	Bailey family
(2) variant spelling for a principal work	variant spelling of a family name as provided on the title page	Baily family
(3) allied family	Many genealogies have chapters devoted to families allied to the principal family in a work. When these allied families are mentioned on the title page, the name is added to the Name Index.	Lucas
(4) individual	individuals mentioned on the title page	Bailey, Andrew
