
ProQuest's U.S. Major Dailies collection offers exclusive access to the five most respected U.S. newspaper titles, which together provide: The U.S. paper of record since 1851, the most authoritative source of global business reporting, comprehensive coverage of world politics, the largest U.S. newspaper on the West Coast, and award-winning investigative and public service reporting.

Why provide access to ProQuest Newspapers: US Major Dailies:

- 72% of researchers use newspapers. A 2017 ProQuest survey of graduate level through faculty researchers shows newspapers are a vital tool in research – used by 72% of researchers and recommended by 88% of researchers who teach.

- Used by all levels of researchers. These publications are a valuable starting point for novice researchers yet are robust enough for serious scholarly research.

- Discover the first historical record of an event, person or place. News coverage is often the first documentation of critical topics across disciplines. In addition, newspapers are an excellent record of fine points and facts that might be overlooked in other primary sources.

- Research Across Multiple Perspectives and Large Spans of Time - Provides a comprehensive record of how stories unfold – and continue to unfold – over years and decades. Users can search and browse perspectives on regional, national and international issues for insight into views, people and events, where they happened, when they happened.

- Cover-to-cover searchable access. Providing valuable information and contextual understanding into centuries of primary sources.

- User friendly platform and search experience. Our newspapers are searchable with all other content on the ProQuest platform for more comprehensive research results. Plus, users benefit from access to:
  - Full-text and grayscale images
  - Article and page level searching with search-term highlighting
  - Easily downloadable PDF format

To talk to the sales department, contact us at 1-800-779-0137 or sales@proquest.com.
About the titles in U.S. Major Dailies:

Historical Newspapers

The New York Times
- Known as “America’s newspaper” for more than a century, The New York Times has also commanded a sizable international readership. The world news and personal stories captured by this Pulitzer Prize-winning newspaper for nearly 170 years provides historical insight on such timely topics as politics, immigration, science and technology, globalization, health and medicine, international conflicts and much more.

The Wall Street Journal
- Originally known as the Customers’ Afternoon Letter, The Wall Street Journal chronicles the development of industries and companies, as well as the implementation and consequences of fiscal policies on the global economy, over the course of a century and around the world. A valuable research resource, especially for those interested in business, finance, economics, and journalism.

The Washington Post
- The first newspaper in Washington to publish seven days a week, The Washington Post’s early contributors include Joseph Pulitzer and a relatively unknown, un-bylined Theodore Roosevelt. This publication is known for its comprehensive political reporting, first-rate photo essays, Pulitzer Prize-winning editorial writing and unmatched investigative journalism.

Los Angeles Times
- The development of Southern California and the American West is chronicled in the Los Angeles Times through coverage of topics and events including the building of the first railway to connect the coasts; immigration; agriculture; the birth of Hollywood; and the travels of reporter Charles Lummis who walked from Cincinnati to Los Angeles, recording his journey along the way to provide a unique glimpse into Native American life.

Chicago Tribune
- Best known for its prize-winning investigative and public service journalism, the Chicago Tribune provides historical coverage of people and events critical to the evolution of the Midwest, including social reform of the Progressive Era at the turn of the 20th century, immigration, organized crime and political corruption, industrialization, manufacturing and more.

Recent Newspapers

The New York Times
- 2008-Recent

The Wall Street Journal
- 2008-Recent

The Washington Post
- 2008-Recent

Los Angeles Times
- 2008-Recent

Chicago Tribune
- 2008-Recent

*Additional year of coverage added annually

Learn more about ProQuest Historical and Recent Newspapers: U.S. Major Dailies

To talk to the sales department, contact us at 1-800-779-0137 or sales@proquest.com.