

ProQuest

Government Catalog

about.proquest.com

To talk to the sales department, contact us at
1-800-779-0137 or sales@proquest.com.

ProQuest
Part of Clarivate

TABLE OF CONTENTS

U.S. & U.K. Government Documents	2	Health	6
News & Newspapers	3	Social Sciences	6
Books	3	Humanities	7
Multidisciplinary Resources	4	Global Studies	7
Business	4	Genealogy	7
The Sciences	5

U.S. & U.K. GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS

ProQuest Government Documents offers the largest archive of U.S. and U.K. government documents for libraries from today back to 1660, plus statistical reports from countries and international organizations worldwide. From legal researchers examining legislative intent to policy analysts tracking regulatory changes, this solution transforms complex research through connected primary sources and intuitive discovery tools.

U.S. Government Insight Collection offers access to Legislative Insight Collection, Regulatory Insight Collection, Supreme Court Insight Collection and Indian Claims Insight. This invaluable resource enables researchers to analyze how U.S. law and policy develop through professionally researched histories showing the connections between Congressional lawmaking, agency implementation, and judicial interpretation.

- Legislative Insight Collection delivers legislative histories of U.S. Public Laws from 1789 to present. Each history provides a compilation of congressional publications that trace a law's development, revealing the context and intent behind significant legislation. This resource supports research across law, political science, history, public policy and beyond.
- Regulatory Insight Collection provides unprecedented access to federal regulatory documentation, including historic and current rules and guidance. It reveals how federal agencies translate legislation into implemented policy through curated regulatory histories, comprehensive agency documentation, and powerful research tools.
- Supreme Court Insight Collection combines Supreme Court heard cases (1897-present) with certiorari denied cases (1954-present) supporting research across law, political science, history, civil rights, and gender studies through case histories and indexing tools.

ProQuest U.S. Congressional Collection encompasses congressional hearings, Serial Set reports and documents, Congressional Record, bills and resolutions, committee prints, Congressional Research Service reports, presidential materials, and more, from 1789 to today, supported by powerful research tools on a unified platform. This legislative research solution includes the complete ProQuest Congressional and Executive Base Collection as its foundation.

- ProQuest Congressional and Executive Base Collection provides bibliographic coverage of core Congressional materials vital for policy and historical research, including Hearings, House and Senate Reports and Documents/Serial Set, Bills and Resolutions, Committee Prints, and Miscellaneous Publications. Coverage spans 1789 to the present with links to selected full-text.

U.S. Executive Branch Policy Documents Collection combines Historic Executive Branch Documents (1789-1952), Executive Branch Documents Great Series and Reports (1953-present), and the Trends and Policy Collection (1789-present). This content provides federal publications, statistics and research tools that allow researchers to track policy development from the nation's founding through today's key issues and societal impacts over time.

- U.S. Executive Branch Documents Great Series & Reports Collection offers curated sets of executive branch documents that focus on complete series of documents and reports, plus monographs relevant to today's issues. Drawing from a wide variety of agencies, this collection supports research about government policies, the implementation of laws, and changes in executive branch organization over time.
- Trends and Policy Collection brings together U.S. government documents, federal statistics, and news coverage with contextual features designed to trace policy development and outcomes. Users can analyze policy impacts in a single destination, supporting research in political science, history, law, public policy, and sociology.

U.K. Government Collection is a rich archive of essential primary sources documenting Britain's transformation from imperial power to modern democracy from 1660 to present. Through bills, reports, debates, and public petitions, these working documents reveal how Parliament shaped policy across three centuries of British governance.

- U.K. Parliamentary Papers Collection 21st Century is a collection of digitized House of Commons Parliamentary Papers from 2005 to today, containing nearly 30K documents. This archive captures the living record of British governance, legislative development, and policy formation, serving as a resource for understanding Britain's response to modern challenges and its evolving role in global affairs. Users access primary source documentation essential for analyzing contemporary British policy, governance, and social change.

Statistical Collection provides access to Statistical Insight Collection, Statistical Abstract of the U.S. and Statistical Abstracts of the World, providing 1.1M+ downloadable tables and 270K+ reports from U.S. federal agencies, international organizations, and research institutions. This resource delivers detailed data and reports on subjects such as population, economy, health, education, and technology.

NEWS & NEWSPAPERS

Global Newsstream Collection is the premier source for contemporary news from around the world, combining ProQuest's U.S., Canadian, and International Newsstream collections. Researchers gain full-text access to nearly 2,000 sources, including newspapers, newswires, broadcast transcripts, and websites, with an extensive archive reaching back to the 1980s, providing valuable historical context for their research.

- U.S. Newsstream Collection delivers current U.S. national and regional news content, spanning print, digital, and broadcast sources. From breaking news to historical context, researchers gain insights into American society, politics, and developments through authoritative reporting.
- Canadian Newsstream Collection provides full-text access to 700+ print, digital, and broadcast sources of leading publications across provinces and territories. With an extensive archive from the 1980s to today, researchers gain insights into current events, provincial developments, and societal trends.
- International Newsstream Collection provides full-text access to 1,700+ print, digital, and broadcast sources, combining five regional collections from around the world. Titles include The Guardian, Le Monde, The Australian, ABC, The Times of India and more. With an extensive archive from the 1980s to current coverage, users gain insights into global events, regional developments, and international relations.

ProQuest Historical Newspapers: Global connects today's headlines back to each title's first edition including six regional collections spanning multiple continents. This resource delivers over 200 premier newspapers presented as originally printed from the U.S., Canada, and global regions, giving researchers exceptional access to primary sources that cover issues and events as they happened and as they continue to unfold.

- ProQuest Historical Newspapers: U.S. Metro Collection delivers exclusive access to 16 of America's most influential newspapers, including The New York Times, The Washington Post, plus other renowned titles like The Boston Globe, The Baltimore Sun, Chicago Tribune, and Los Angeles Times. These historical newspapers document events, perspectives, and cultural shifts from current week coverage back to the first historic issue, providing firsthand accounts vital for historical and contemporary research.

- ProQuest Historical Newspapers: U.S. Collection delivers America's past and present stories through 130+ local newspaper titles covering 36 states. Featuring original coverage from the first publication to the present day, each digitized issue captures history as it unfolded in local communities. The collection provides page-by-page access to vital local perspectives and reporting not found in national media.
- ProQuest Historical Newspapers: Black Newspaper Collection presents 14 African American newspapers that documented the Black experience in America from 1827 to today. These publications provide firsthand accounts of pivotal moments in history through the lens of distinguished Black journalists and community leaders.
- ProQuest Historical Newspapers: Canada Collection brings together 15 Canadian newspapers from five provinces. Each title includes content from the first historical issue to the most recent, spanning the 18th century to today. Users can access high-resolution page views that preserve the original context and layout, offering authoritative contemporary accounts of Canadian life and events as they unfolded.
- ProQuest Historical Newspapers: International Collection offers 18 premier international newspapers and publications that chronicled world events through firsthand accounts and real-time reporting. It offers researchers authentic period perspectives on political, social, and economic developments through influential daily newspapers and respected economic sources.
- ProQuest Historical Newspapers: U.S. Jewish Newspaper Collection is a digital archive of four influential Jewish American newspapers that enables researchers to investigate Jewish immigration, genealogy, and history, including the rise of Zionism and the formation of U.S. policies toward the state of Israel.

Other Standalone News Subscriptions

PressReader provides interactive, digital access to nearly 7,000 of the world's best newspapers and magazines from Europe, Latin America, Asia, the Middle East, Canada, and the U.S. Just like reading a print edition, viewers can browse articles, pictures, advertisements, and classifieds, with keyword search capabilities and the ability to save content. Users can access everything from local news stories to pop culture magazines, industry reports, and national opinion pieces through an intuitive, user-friendly interface.

BOOKS

ProQuest Ebooks is our most comprehensive scholarly ebook subscription with over 700,000 multidisciplinary titles to support research and learning on a greater scale. It features a rich catalog of global content, with over 4,000 renowned publishers of all sizes, more than 190,000 titles in over 60 non-English languages, and plenty of award-winning and notable titles across a broad range of subject areas.

Government Complete is designed for the unique needs of government libraries and comes with a growing selection of 244,000+ titles from trusted, authoritative sources and leading publishers like PennWell, Wiley, Betham Science Publishers and IMF. It offers unlimited access, powerful research tools and DRM-free chapter downloads.

MULTIDISCIPLINARY RESOURCES

ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Global offers untapped research where users can discover emerging topics, enhance literature reviews, broaden perspectives, and access insights for more successful research. With 6.3 million metadata records, 4 million in full text, spanning from North America, Europe, Asia, to Africa and beyond, researchers can obtain a global view of the research landscape within a unified search experience not available anywhere else.

- ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Citation Index Custom Data includes raw dissertation and thesis metadata and abstracts for up to 6 million post-graduate works delivered to a customer's specifications, either as a single, one-time delivery of an archive or a subscription to monthly updates of newly added records.

ProQuest Central provides libraries with breadth of access to 47 databases containing the full text content from journals, magazines, news sources, and trade publications, to case studies, market and industry reports, business cases and more. Offering a broad foundational base, ProQuest Central includes thousands of titles across disciplines, providing researchers access to essential content from some of the world's most important scholarly publishers, including Cambridge University Press, Springer, Nature, Emerald and more.

Research Library provides an international mix of scholarly, professional, and consumer periodicals that covers a broad range of subjects, including business, the sciences, medical, technology, literature, the arts, and history. It is updated regularly with new content and includes a deep backfile, providing users with deeper historical context.

The PBS Video Collection, 5th Edition includes 1,600+ streaming videos providing an exceptional range of content with the most valuable video documentaries and series from PBS. From science and history to business & economics, this resource provides access to streaming videos from one of television's most trusted networks.

CBS News Video Archive delivers nearly six decades of flagship news programming in one streaming video resource. Only available through ProQuest, the collection grants access to the CBS News archives from the 1950s to the 2010s, including programs never before available for distribution since their original broadcast dates. Panelists and guest speakers from the world's most historic events, as they unfolded in real-time, include such figures as Joseph McCarthy, JFK, Nikita Khrushchev, Fidel Castro, Henry Kissinger, Anwar Sadat, and more. Global events discussed include the Cuban Revolution, the Vietnam War, U.S. presidential elections, Apollo 11, the Watergate Scandal, and more.

Canadian Business & Current Affairs Database offers broad Canadian-focused coverage across business, education, politics, health, and more. It includes 1,900+ indexed sources and 850+ full-text titles, featuring scholarly journals, news, reports, media transcripts and more from CBCA Business, Education, and Reference & Current Events.

Career & Technical Education Database includes 1,000+ full-text titles, including trade journals and magazines, scholarly journals, blogs and video content. Users can research vocational topics such as computer science, engineering, healthcare, building trades, law enforcement, the food industry, sales and retail, and transportation.

BUSINESS

ProQuest One Business supports business research with scholarly journals, ebooks, company, industry and country reports, dissertations, streaming videos, and global news from sources like The Economist, Tribune Content Agency, and Australian Financial Review. Its company, country and industry insights from sources like Hoover's, Global Data, Economist Intelligence Unit and Fitch Solutions, aid tasks like financial analysis, market trend research, and industry comparisons.

- ABI/INFORM Collection provides access to the world's leading scholarly journals, influential business news, groundbreaking academic papers, and expert market analysis, to equip researchers and professionals with the resources they need to stay ahead.
- Accounting, Tax & Banking Collection focuses on the more practice-oriented or standards aspects of the field. It brings together global scholarly journals and other key resources for access to reliable information in this continuously evolving area of study. Researchers can quickly locate precise results from current news to professional and academic journal articles covering the trends and history influencing important accounting, tax, banking, and financial issues of the day.
- Business Market Research Collection delivers company and industry reports from a variety of sources, including Hoover's Company Profiles' 40,000 global public and private companies, including financials, competitors, officers, and more. Industry & Market Reports from Barnes Reports provide in-depth analysis of global industries, while First Research Industry Profiles include U.S. state and Canadian province profiles, and industry reports for 70 sectors, covering growth indicators, key drivers, trends, financial ratios, HR impacts, executive insights, and more.
- Entrepreneurship Collection provides access to key scholarship, tools, and resources to help entrepreneurs navigate the complex world of small business. It contains a diverse collection of resources, including journals, reports, "how-to" books, including information on how to write marketing and business plans, video clips, and more from top publishers.
- Asian & European Business Collection provides information on companies, economies, markets, international trade, and overall business conditions throughout these regions. The collection includes academic journals, news titles, newswires, and magazines.

Other Standalone Business Subscriptions

- EconLit – used by global economists for decades – is published by the American Economic Association and provides bibliographic coverage of a wide range of economics-related literature. An expanded version of the Journal of Economic Literature (JEL) indexes journals, books, and dissertations. EconLit covers both economic theory and application.

THE SCIENCES

ProQuest One Applied & Life Sciences delivers full-text resources covering biological sciences, engineering, materials science, advanced technology, and computer science. Extensive A&I coverage facilitates comprehensive literature reviews and access to full-text journals from publishers such as Springer, Wiley Elsevier, and Nature Publishing Group combined with its grey literature offers insights into cutting-edge research not yet peer-reviewed making the depth and breadth of content invaluable.

- Advanced Technologies & Computer Science Collection provides full-text access to scholarly journals, trade and industry publications, magazines, technical reports, conference proceedings, dissertations, and government documents from around the world. Its wide range of topics includes aeronautics, astronautics, AI, communications, computer and information technology, electronics, lasers, solid-state materials, space sciences, and telecommunications.
- Biological Science Collection integrates abstracts, citations, full-text scholarly journals, and other research materials from hundreds of reputable publishers. Subject coverage includes all major branches of the discipline, including, biology, anatomy, biotechnology, biochemistry, botany, ecology, genetics, microbiology, toxicology, zoology.
- Engineering Collection offers A&I and full text coverage across engineering and applied science disciplines, including chemical, electronic, environmental, civil, mechanical, bioengineering, and more. Spanning from 1900 to today, the collection adheres to rigorous indexing standards, ensuring efficient retrieval of resources.
- Materials Science Collection provides access to international literature in materials science, metallurgy, ceramics, polymers, and composites. This resource covers the entire lifecycle of materials—from raw materials and refining to processing, welding, fabrication, performance, corrosion, and recycling—across metals, alloys, polymers, ceramics, and composites.

ProQuest One Sustainability is designed to meet the growing demand for sustainability curricula. This curated, multiformat resource includes scholarly journals, full-text case studies, dissertations and theses, reports, trade journals, ebooks and magazines. Its transdisciplinary research experience is structured around sustainability's environmental, social and economic pillars, its key competencies and the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

- Agricultural Science Collection offers coverage of basic and applied agricultural research, featuring scholarly journals, dissertations, trade and industry publications, conference proceedings, and newswires. The collection spans topics including animal and veterinary sciences, entomology, plant sciences, forestry, aquaculture and fisheries, farming systems, agricultural economics, food and human nutrition, and environmental sciences.
- Environmental Science Collection combines full-text content with specialized indexing across key environmental topics, including climate change, sustainability, conservation, environmental health, policy, soil science, waste management, and wildlife. It features thousands of peer-reviewed journals from alongside various other research outputs, such as dissertations, trade publications, magazines, NGO reports, working papers, and conference materials.

- Earth, Atmospheric & Aquatic Science Collection offers coverage of research in geoscience, meteorology, climatology, aquatic science, and related fields. Its full-text publications include peer-reviewed journals, trade publications, conference proceedings, books, reports, and dissertations. Also provided are specialized A&I databases like Aquatic Science & Fisheries Abstracts (ASFA) and Meteorological & Geostrophysical Abstracts (MGA) to streamline discovery and search precision.

Other Standalone Science Subscriptions

- AGRICOLA is a bibliographic database consisting of literature citations for journal articles, monographs, proceedings, theses, patents, translations, audiovisual materials, computer software, and technical reports pertaining to all aspects of agriculture. It provides selective worldwide coverage of primary information sources in agriculture and related fields.
- ASFA: Aquatic Sciences and Fisheries Abstracts is an abstracting and indexing service covering the world's literature on the science, technology, management, and conservation of marine, brackish water, and freshwater resources and environments, including their socio-economic and legal aspects.
- Meteorological & Geostrophysical Abstracts provides editorially curated A&I resources drawn from the world's literature on meteorology, climatology, atmospheric chemistry and physics, astrophysics, hydrology, glaciology, physical oceanography and environmental sciences.
- GeoRef, established by the American Geosciences Institute (AGI) in 1966, provides access to the geoscience literature of the world. The database contains 4M+ references to geoscience journal articles, books, maps, conference papers, reports and theses. It covers the geology of North America from 1669 to the present and the geology of the rest of the world from 1933 to the present. The database includes references to all publications of the U.S. Geological Survey.
- Inspec, the Institution of Engineering and Technology's (IET) renowned database, contains over 16 million records and is one of the most definitive abstract and indexing databases for subject-specific and interdisciplinary research in engineering, physics and computer science.
- NTIS Database (National Technical Information Service) provides access to the latest U.S. government-sponsored research and worldwide scientific, technical, engineering, and business-related information. Additionally, information is available from international government departments and other international organizations, including those from Canada, Japan, the former Soviet Union, and Western and Eastern European countries.
- Military Database offers scholarly journals, reports, and government publications on defense, international relations, engineering, and more. Key titles include Joint Force Quarterly, Military Intelligence Bulletin, RUSI Journal, and Harvard International Review, supporting research across military and political science disciplines.

HEALTH

ProQuest One Health & Nursing is a multiformat resource of biomedical, healthcare, and nursing research materials, including extensive and in-depth coverage of healthcare, public health, health professions, pharmacology, and other topics. Users will find a wide range of materials, including peer-reviewed journals, clinical skills videos, reference materials, and trade publications, among many others.

- Nursing & Allied Health Collection connects theory to practice by providing a mix of scholarly literature, clinical training videos, reference materials, and evidence-based resources — including dissertations and systematic reviews - delivering a blend of practical and theoretical content in an intuitive interface designed to help build research and clinical skills.
- Health and Medical Research Collection combines MEDLINE with full-text biomedical, healthcare, and life sciences research materials. Users access peer-reviewed journals, trade journals, reports, and a curated selection of popular sources to keep up with the latest developments in clinical research, get clinical decision support, explore research topics, and more.

Other Standalone Health Subscriptions

- MEDLINE contains 31M+ citations and abstracts, providing access to worldwide biomedical literature. It covers a broad range of medical topics relating to research, clinical practice, administration, policy issues, and health care services. Produced by the U.S. National Library of Medicine, MEDLINE contains all records published in Index Medicus and, since 2002, most citations previously included in separate NLM specialty databases such as SPACELINE and HISTLINE.
- International Pharmaceutical Abstracts (IPA) provides a collection of information on drug use and development. As a primary source of drug-related health literature, IPA provides pharmacists, poison information specialists, drug information centers, the pharmaceutical industry, health practitioners, pharmacologists, medical librarians, cosmetic companies, environmentalists, educators, toxicologists, and litigators with information from over 800 health journals throughout the world.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

ProQuest One Psychology is designed to meet the unique needs of psychology research and counseling instruction. This expertly curated resource reimagines the research experience for the discipline, providing authoritative multiformat content covering psychological conditions, therapy, research concepts, tests and more. Content is organized to align with how psychology users approach research questions and methodologies. Features such as browse and Topic Pages allow users to find information faster and explore topics more deeply.

PTSDpubs covers the published international literature On Traumatic Stress and is produced at the National Center for Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder. Sponsored by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, its goal is to include citations to all literature on post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and other mental-health sequelae of traumatic events, without disciplinary, linguistic, or geographical limitations, and to offer both current and retrospective coverage.

American Psychological Association (APA) products available on the ProQuest platform offer unique features such as integration with Web of Science citation counts and journal ranking information, AI Research Assistant for PsycArticles, Therapy, and Books, and complete integration within ProQuest One Psychology for mutual customers.

- APA PsycInfo® is a comprehensive index of scholarly literature in psychology and related fields, ideal for exploring the full scope of behavioral and social science research.
- APA PsycArticles® is a full-text collection of peer-reviewed journal articles published by the APA, offering authoritative insights into the science of psychology from past to present.
- APA PsycTherapy® is a streaming video database of real psychotherapy sessions, enabling clinicians and students to observe diverse therapeutic approaches in action.
- APA PsycBooks® is a digital library of APA-published books, delivering peer-reviewed, long-form scholarship across key topics in psychology and allied disciplines.
- APA PsycExtra® is a unique archive of grey literature in psychology, including conference papers, reports, and other non-journal content not found in traditional databases.
- APA PsycTests® is a searchable repository of psychological assessments and measures, supporting research and teaching with access to test instruments and metadata.

ProQuest One Social Sciences offers high-quality titles spanning criminology, public policy, international relations, linguistics, and political science. Ideal for interdisciplinary studies, the resource also includes A&I databases such as PAIS Index, Worldwide Political Science Abstracts, and Sociological Abstracts, which are highly valued for their breadth and depth of discipline-specific coverage.

- Politics Collection supports research in political science, public policy, and international relations with top indexes, like PAIS Index and Worldwide Political Science Abstracts, and full-text content from leading publishers like Palgrave Macmillan, Springer Nature, and Cambridge University Press, offering essential resources for academic and policy studies.
- Criminology Collection supports research on the causes, trends, and societal impacts of crime. It includes A&I and full-text coverage of scholarly journals, along with correctional and law enforcement trade publications, dissertations, and more.
- Linguistics Collection includes the leading A&I database, Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts as well as full-text content covering all aspects of language study, including phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, and semantics. Coverage includes fields such as descriptive, historical, comparative, theoretical, and applied linguistics.

HUMANITIES

ProQuest One History offers access to primary sources, scholarly articles, and documents covering key events, figures, and time periods from 1450 to the present. With content sourced from renowned institutions, museums, and archives, this resource spans global regions and offers users materials for researching social, political, and economic history across centuries.

- Early Modern Collection encompasses two critical collections: Early English Books Online (EEBO) and Early European Books (EEB), covering printed material from both the British Isles and Europe during the Early Modern period (1450-1700). Materials from 230+ libraries cover science, medicine, philosophy, theology, literature, history, political science, travel and exploration. Together, they provide a rich source of content for research across the landscape of early modern Europe.
- ProQuest History Vault gives researchers a first-hand look at pivotal moments in history through primary sources featuring records of four of the most important civil rights organizations of the 1950s and 1960s (NAACP, SNCC, SCLC, and CORE) as well as other organizations like the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs. It also contains unique collections detailing other major social movements like the women's rights movement, labor movement, anti-Vietnam War movement, and progressive and radical political movements.
- U.K. History Collection delivers primary sources spanning five centuries of British history, from the 16th to the early 21st century, offering insights into key topics such as governance, global expansion, royal affairs, wartime experiences, and cultural evolution. These materials shed light on the political, social, and cultural developments that shaped the U.K. and its global influence.
- U.S. History Collection includes a variety of primary sources from pivotal periods in North American history documenting the early colonial period, the Civil War, the Gilded Age, early immigrant experiences, and post-World War II America. This archive provides in-depth insights into the people, social dynamics, and political attitudes that shaped North America.
- Historical Periodicals Collection offers a range of historical periodicals from the 17th to the early 21st century, including full-text journals and bibliographic indexes, along with key primary and secondary sources for understanding historical events, social movements, scientific progress, and cultural shifts. From Benjamin Franklin's General Magazine to The New Statesman, this collection provides a lens into pivotal eras, landmark events, and influential voices that shaped history.

GLOBAL STUDIES

Global & International Studies Collection delivers government documents, archival historical documents, periodicals, news scripts, and video footage, paired with insightful secondary materials to deepen understanding of critical social, political, and global themes, all the while connecting past and present challenges to inform today's pressing issues. Topics covered include decolonization, U.S./Mexico border, the Israeli–Palestinian conflict, the Cuban Revolution, the economic rise of China, global environmental issues, the Cold War, and international nuclear disarmament.

Digital National Security Archive, a ProQuest–National Security Archive collaboration, includes primary documents on modern U.S. foreign, military, and intelligence policy available outside the U.S. government. Collections cover the most critical world events, countries and U.S. policy decisions from post-World War II through the 21st century, providing access to the defining international strategies of our time with 150,000+ indexed, declassified documents, many published for the first time.

USC Shoah Foundation Visual History Archive contains 55,000 video testimonies of survivors and witnesses of genocide, crimes against humanity, and related persecution. This ever-growing resource empowers users to explore, analyze, and gain deep insights into the complexities and consequences of historical atrocities. ProQuest collaborates with USC Shoah Foundation to provide full access to the archive and support transcript creation in more than 40 languages.

CultureGrams Online™ goes beyond basic facts and figures to offer local perspectives on more than 200 countries and territories detailing daily life and culture, including history, customs, and lifestyles. From Afghanistan to Zimbabwe, each concise, reliable, and up-to-date report is written and reviewed by local experts, providing users with unique, intimate cultural details from an insider's perspective.

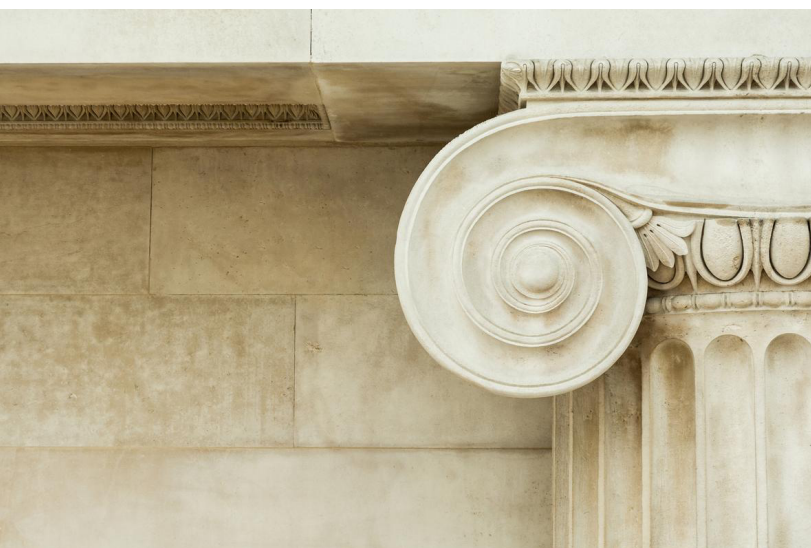

GENEALOGY

Powered by Ancestry®

Ancestry Library Edition is the world's largest collection of genealogical records. This collection brings the world's most popular consumer online genealogy resource to your library with an unprecedented online collection of individuals from North America, United Kingdom, Europe, Australia/New Zealand, and more.

HeritageQuest Online is a comprehensive treasury of American and international genealogical records—rich in unique primary sources, local and family histories, convenient research guides, interactive census maps, and more. With 5 billion+ records, it delivers an essential collection of genealogical and historical sources—with coverage dating back to the 1700s—that can help people find ancestors and discover a place's past. Now with an updated interface and ability to search across all collections.

Newspapers.com Library Edition is an extensive database that provides online access to 4,000+ historical newspapers. Dating from the early 1700s into the 2000s, it contains full runs and portions of runs of well-known, regional and state titles to small local newspapers in the U.S. and other countries. Invaluable for researchers, it provides greater opportunities for longitudinal and comparative analysis of historical events and people. Libraries can subscribe to the entire database (world collection), multi-state collections, or state-level collections. It is a complement to ProQuest Historical Newspapers: Global.

ProQuest is behind a growing set of academic AI tools designed to drive new levels of research excellence. Responsibly and thoughtfully developed with input from the academic community, these tools are built on a framework that prioritizes transparency, privacy and rigorous adherence to academic principles and standards.

Introducing the ProQuest Research Assistant

ProQuest Research Assistant harnesses AI's capabilities and applies them in a responsible, reliable manner as a research companion for students. Powerful features allow users to:

- Easily craft more targeted searches
- More effectively review, analyze, and interrogate documents
- Quickly evaluate the usefulness of each document for your research
- Receive guidance on next steps including choosing a research topic and understanding key concepts

Seamless Integration in a Growing Number of Solutions

A growing number of ProQuest solutions now include academic AI-powered research assistants.

Learn More: <https://about.proquest.com/en/company/proquest-academic-ai/>

The screenshot displays the ProQuest One Sustainability interface. The main document is titled "Anti-environmentalists" from The Economist, dated March 16, 2024. The article is categorized under "Finance & economics" and "Free exchange". The article text discusses the impact of density on carbon emissions and the role of NIMBYs. A sidebar on the right, titled "Research Assistant BETA", provides a key takeaway: "Density lowers the per-person cost of public transport, which reduces car use and can lead to substantial emissions savings through policies like 'demolish and densify'." The sidebar also lists additional topics discussed in the text, such as the broken-window fallacy and embodied carbon. At the bottom of the sidebar, there are two buttons: "Brainstorm research topics based on this document." and "Describe the important concepts in this document." The interface includes a top navigation bar with a menu icon, the title "ProQuest One Sustainability", and a search bar. The document viewer shows the article text and a small illustration of a person in a hat.

about.proquest.com

To talk to the sales department, contact us at
1-800-779-0137 or sales@proquest.com.

LTR/KM-KS/07-25

ProQuest
Part of Clarivate