Montreal Gazette (1785–2010)

The Montreal Gazette is Montreal's only surviving English-language newspaper, as well as the oldest daily still in print in all of Canada. Originally founded as The Gazette, the paper offers much insight into Canadian history in the late 19th Century as well as important coverage of international, national, provincial, and local events. Coverage includes past events of current historical landmarks such as the Notre-Dame Basilica of Montreal, Saint Joseph's Oratory of Mount Royal, and the Old Port of Montreal. The paper gives insight into the commercial, social, and cultural life of the future city of Montreal via the large number of business and professional cards, the advertisements, and notices of local organizations. The Montreal Gazette is also home to several National Newspaper Award-winning editorial writers including Edgar A. Collard and the history of Montreal, Henry Aubin's groundbreaking environmental investigations, and award-winning editorial cartoonist "Aislin" (Terry Mosher).

The collage features several front pages of The Montreal Gazette. The top page is dated Wednesday, July 2, 2008, with the headline "CANADIANS SHOW THEIR COLOURS IT WAS A DAY OF PRIDE AND BELONGING" and a sub-headline "Abortion pioneer receives honour". Below this is a photo of a group of people. Another page shows a headline "Wimbledon final will be sister act" with a photo of tennis players. A third page is dated Friday, July 4, 2008, with the headline "The day belongs to Champlain" and a sub-headline "POMP AND PARTIES Torontian rain soaks dignitaries but can't put damper on Quebecers' day to remember". This page features a large photo of a man in historical attire. Other pages include "A GIRL'S LIFE IN HARD TIMES" and "OUR ECONOMY MAY BE LURE FOR IMMIGRANTS FROM U.S.". The collage also includes various smaller sections like "IN FOCUS", "QUOTE OF THE DAY", and "INDEX".

This section contains a variety of advertisements and newspaper snippets. A large advertisement for "GOLDEN GRIFFIN" features the text "CARPETS, CARPETS, CARPETS." and "HUGHES & COMPY". Below this is an ad for "NEW GOODS" and "HABERDASHERY". Other snippets include a "GOLDEN GRIFFIN" ad, a "HUGHES & COMPY" ad, and a "HABERDASHERY" ad. There are also smaller ads for "LLOYDMINSTER TO BE RAILWAY CENTRE" and "KENNEDY ASSASSIN JOHNAN NEW PRESIDENT".

Canadians ousted for 'oversight'

By JOANNY DELANO
MONTREAL — It was once the most famous of all Canadian athletes, a man who had won the gold medal at the 1952 Winter Olympics in Oslo, Norway. He was a Canadian, and he was a hero. But now, he is a man who has been ousted from the Canadian Olympic team for "oversight".

THE NEED FOR NEWS

In an era where local news coverage has been on the decline, historical regional papers can transport students and researchers to another time where smaller newspapers served as the informational hub of the community. Stories about neighborhood personalities, town events, city politics, schools, agriculture, commerce and other local business aren't available anywhere else.

Additionally, regional newspapers reveal local perspectives on national and international affairs for insight on how everyday lives are impacted and influenced by the issues and events that dominate the headlines of major metropolitan papers.

EXTREMELY IMPORTANT

Faculty state that developing critical thinking skills in students is extremely important.

From a 2018 survey of more than 1,300 faculty and students on the use of varied content in research, teaching, and learning, faculty indicate why they assign primary sources in teaching.

72% of researchers use news today

A 2017 ProQuest study shows that newspapers are a vital tool in research – they're used by 72% of researchers and recommended by 80% of researchers who teach.

Which of the following types of information do you use in your research? Which do you recommend to your students?

Faculty use a rich mix of content in their work and they encourage their students to stretch beyond journals.
