History & Social Change

Black History

History Vault: Reverend J.H. Jackson and the National Baptist Convention, 1900–1990

The Reverend Joseph H. Jackson was the longest-serving president of the National Baptist Convention, serving in that role from 1953–1982, and pastor at Olivet Baptist Church on Chicago’s South Side from 1941 until his death in 1990. During his presidency of the National Baptist Convention, at the height of the civil rights movement in the 1950s and 1960s, Jackson spoke about the importance of loyalty to the federal government and emphasized the ballot as the strongest weapon in obtaining civil rights. Jackson’s stance put him in conflict with other Baptist leaders, including Martin Luther King, Jr., who favored nonviolent civil disobedience to achieve civil rights reforms. The Jackson Papers span from 1889–2003 but focus on the period from 1950–1990. A major series of National Baptist Convention records includes Jackson’s correspondence during his time as the organization’s president, minutes of meetings, Jackson’s annual addresses to the National Baptist Convention, and some of his writings on civil rights and civil disobedience. The collection also includes a major series of Jackson sermons from 1928–1988, and personal records focused on his years as a graduate student from 1925–1945.

Selected items from Alexander Street’s Black Thought and Culture: Content added includes writings, speeches, or oral histories of Carter G. Woodson, Booker T. Washington, James Weldon Johnson, Langston Hughes, Mary Church Terrell, Dorothy Height, Amiri Baraka, Kathleen Cleaver, Bayard Rustin, and others.
Cultural History

The Hollywood Reporter Archive

The Hollywood Reporter Archive is a valuable digital backfile spanning over 85 years, from 1930 (inaugural issue) to 2015, chronicling the Hollywood film, television, and entertainment industries. Comprising approximately 300,000 pages, this archive represents an extensive historical record. It offers insights into the film industry’s technological advancements, economic fluctuations, and regulatory changes, revealing the forces that have shaped it. Through contemporary reviews, critical analyses, and box office data, the archive unearths the emergence of film genres and the ever-evolving tastes of audiences.

The VIBE Archive

This archive consists of the full run of VIBE magazine, the U.S. magazine of record for hip-hop culture from 1993-2014. Founded by Quincy Jones, VIBE not only offered influential reporting and news about rap, hip-hop, and R&B music but more broadly represented the associated urban youth culture. It is renowned for its pioneering role in establishing mainstream coverage of this culture and for raising the profile of many major hip-hop and R&B artists.

The House Beautiful Archive

The archive of the US edition of House Beautiful, from its first issue in 1896 to the present. The oldest still-published US shelter magazine, House Beautiful not only records the history of interior design, but demonstrates how broader social and cultural trends – e.g. women’s roles, family life, new technologies, and consumer behavior – have manifested themselves in domestic settings for over 125 years.

Children’s Magazine Archive, 1866-2020

This collection comprises a variety of 20th-century serials covering many aspects of children’s lives and interests. These include titles focusing on education, entertainment/literature, news, and religion/moral development. As well as shedding light on the history of childhood and family life during this period, these titles will provide alternative perspectives in the study of 20th-century advertising/marketing, popular culture, education, media, and print culture. Major titles include Sesame Street Magazine, Look and Learn, The Children’s Newspaper, and Boy’s Own Paper.
Early Modern History

Historical Periodicals

Socialist & Radical Periodicals

NEW!

Published in the 20th century, this collection of periodicals reflects a variety of movements and ideologies on the political left. These include Marxist, socialist, communist, social democratic, and Fabianist publications, addressing key topics and events such as labor history/ workers’ rights, international socialism, anti-Nazi movements, Red Scares, class struggles, campaigns/ legislation, and youth radicalism.

Colonial Legacies: Empire and Commonwealth Periodicals

This digital archive comprises of over 30 periodicals and approximately 800,000 pages. This collection offers a mixture of British publications about the Empire and titles published in Commonwealth countries (including Australia, New Zealand, India, Canada, and Papua New Guinea). It will support research in key events in colonial history, including the later phase of the Scramble for Africa, the world wars, independence movements, the creation of the Commonwealth, and more. While official publications contain valuable information about colonial administration and ideology, more popular titles, covering the arts, society, and general interests, provide insights into the broader history and culture of former colonies.
Latinx History

Latinx Thought and Culture: The NPR Archive, 1979–1990

This collection showcases three NPR radio programs available for the first time as digitized audio with transcripts, including the Spanish-language Enfoque Nacional (1979–1988), the English-language Latin File (1988–1990), and the Spanish-language Panorama Hispano. These programs focused on Latinx issues related to politics, sociology, human rights, the arts and more with interviews of key figures and news reported by a new generation of Latino/a journalists at the time.

History Vault: Bexar Archives: Colonial Archives of Texas during the Spanish and Mexican Periods, 1717–1836

This archive contains the official documents detailing the military, civilian, and political life of the Spanish province of Texas and the Mexican state of Coahuila y Texas. It is considered the most complete and detailed primary source in existence for the study of colonial Texas, documenting virtually all aspects of life in Spanish and Mexican Texas from 1717-1836. The scope of the documentation contained in the Bexar Archives is as vast as the territory whose affairs it recorded.

- This digital archive consists of 250,000 pages of manuscript documentation and more than 4,000 pages of printed material on colonial and regional history.
- Documents cover rich Texas history, including:
  - Early Settlement and Indigenous Relations: Covering Canary Island settlers, religious matters, and interactions with Native Americans.
  - Border Disputes and Conflict: Including friction along the Texas-Louisiana border.
  - Anglo-American Influence: Including Anglo-American incursions and the arrival of Moses Austin.
  - Rebellions and Wars: Coverage of the Mexican revolution, Gutierrez-Magee invasion, Battle of Medina, and the Fredonian Rebellion.
- Road to Independence: Documentation of the Champ D’Asile incident, Dr. Long’s expedition, the Mexican independent regime, and the declaration of Texas independence in 1836.
Military & Diplomatic History

DNA: Targeting Iraq, Part II: War and Occupation, 2004–2011

Comprised of some 2,200 documents dating primarily from the conclusion in 2004 of the Coalition Provisional Authority’s administration of Iraq, thus restoring Baghdad’s titular sovereignty, through the 2011 U.S. military withdrawal, this collection covers efforts to reestablish Iraqi security and stability and restore a functioning economy and system of governance following decades of regional conflict, sanctions, invasion, and occupation. Topics include U.S. efforts to suppress violence arising from resistance to its presence in Iraq and from competition for power and monetary advantage; and Washington’s attempts to influence Iraq’s political and economic decision-making including leadership choices, the adoption of a new constitution, privatization, and oil legislation. The documents address military strategy, as well as political and human rights issues such as prisoner abuse, contracting and contractor malfeasance, misused resources, corruption, and the divergence between American objectives on one side and Iraqi realities and the outlook of its people on the other.

DNA: U.S. Foreign Policy in the Carter Years, 1977-1981: Highest-Level Memos to the President

This unusual collection of highest-level foreign policy materials from the Jimmy Carter administration features every declassified daily or weekly memo to the president from National Security Advisor Zbigniew Brzezinski and from Secretaries of State Cyrus Vance and Edmund Muskie; as well as every available meeting record of the National Security Council’s two subgroups – the Policy Review Committee and the Special Coordination Committee. Many of the records have the president’s own handwritten notations. Topics cover the gamut of foreign policy issues during this pivotal period, notably the conflict in the Middle East, the Iran hostage crisis, the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, SALT talks with Moscow, the opening of diplomatic relations with China, the Nicaraguan revolution, energy, and a growing U.S. emphasis on global human rights.

History Vault: Confidential U.S. State Department and Diplomatic Post Special Files, Asia, 1945–1966

The Confidential U.S. State Department "Special" or "Lot" Files represent a rich source for students of American foreign policy. Focusing on political affairs, economic conditions, and policy positions, these documents complement the State Department Central Files and form a foundation for in-depth study of international affairs. Maintained by various State Department offices, bureaus, committees, and individuals, the Special Files hold a vast amount of unique material not preserved in the Central Files. They provide an especially valuable source for working papers, annotated memoranda, verbatim transcripts, drafts, and other informal material. Further, the Special Files often contain documents State Department officials considered too sensitive or important to forward to the general Central Files. The set of State Department and Diplomatic Post records covers the U.S. occupation of Japan following World War II, development of postwar Japan, the San Francisco Peace Conference of 1951, and economic conditions in Japan; the Korean War, peace negotiations, U.S.-Korea relations, and the rebuilding of South Korea after the end of fighting in the Korean War; military and economic relations between Japan, Korea, and the U.S. in the 1950s; ANZUS treaty talks with Australia and New Zealand; Nationalist and anti-colonial resistance movements in Vietnam, Indonesia, and Malaya; and efforts to establish a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.
History Vault: Joint Chiefs of Staff in the Early Cold War, 1946–1960

As the principal group of military advisers to the president of the United States, the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) is arguably the most important body of military leaders in the world. Records of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in the Early Cold War contains the formerly classified and secret proposals that, when approved by the president, became the military and foreign policies of the United States. These records offer a behind-the-scenes view of the highest levels of U.S. military decision-making. The reports in this module were written by hundreds of JCS staff members—experts in fields ranging from Chinese defense strategy to U.S. military counterintelligence.

U.S. History

History Vault: Americans for Democratic Action Records

At a conference of prominent American liberals and labor leaders held in New York City on May 9-10, 1941, the Union for Democratic Action (UDA) was formally organized, with James Loeb Jr. as executive secretary, Reinhold Niebuhr as national chairman, and Frank Kingdon as president. The purpose of the new organization was to initiate a two-front fight against fascism, both at home and abroad. After World War II and the November 1946 elections, James Loeb Jr., national director of UDA, joined by Leon Henderson, Wilson W. Wyatt, Hubert H. Humphrey, and others, called for a convention of democratic progressives to meet in Washington, D.C., on January 4, 1947. Two days later, they formed Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) with James Loeb Jr., as national executive secretary. Among the ADA founders were Wilson Wyatt, first national chairman, Leon Henderson, Hubert H. Humphrey, Eleanor Roosevelt, Joseph P. Lash, Will Rogers Jr., Joseph L. Rauh Jr., Walter Reuther, James B. Carey, David Dubinsky, Walter White, Reinhold Niebuhr, and Herbert H. Lehman.

History Vault: American Jewish Congress Records: Administrative and Executive Committee, Governing Council, National Conventions, and Executive Director Files

The American Jewish Congress, founded in 1918 under the leadership of Louis Brandeis, Felix Frankfurter, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, is one of the most important organizations dedicated to advocating for the interests of the American Jewish community and defending the civil rights of all Americans. The American Jewish Congress Records span from 1915-2009 and document the American Jewish Congress’s impact on the United States legal system, civil rights and liberties, the fight against discrimination and antisemitism, and support for the State of Israel. The records of the American Jewish Congress are digitized by ProQuest from the holdings of the American Jewish Historical Society. This module represents the first seven series of the collection, covering the history of the American Jewish Congress, the proceedings of its governing committees, the files of the Executive Directors, and records of the organization’s national conventions.

Anthropology

Contemporary Anthropology: Archaeological Fieldwork and Methods

NEW!

Archaeology has a history rooted in colonialism and the plunder of antiquities from the global south. This collection will bring together archival and textual material relating to archaeological excavations, methods, and practices done in the late 20th century to present day. It will help students debate ethical practices in archaeology, who owns the past, as well as contemporary field methods and analysis. The core archive featured will be the Cusichaca Archaeological Project (CAP) led by Ann Kendall who did numerous excavations in the Peruvian Andes from 1980s–2010s. Additional topics covered are: 3D Imaging, bioarcheology, maritime archaeology, paleoecology, lithic technology, rock art, colonialism, repatriation, cultural heritage, and more.

Gender Studies

LGBT Magazine Archive, Volume II

This module expands the LGBT Magazine Archive program with the backfiles of over 20 additional titles. Magazines of this type are among the principal sources of documentation on LGBTQ+ cultures, lives, and events but back issues have not typically been collected by university libraries. Collection 2 will include titles produced for a variety of readerships and LGBTQ+ communities, including, for example, African American, lesbian feminist, bisexual and atheist. Publication types range from lifestyle publications, news titles, and leisure/travel guides, to journals aimed at a professional audience. As well as further U.S. and U.K. publications, Collection 2 extends the international coverage with some titles from mainland Europe. With content from the 1960s through to 2020, this collection will shed light on key topics such as health, lifestyle, politics, social attitudes, law, activism, LGBTQ+ rights, arts and literature.

LGBT Studies in Video, Volume II

Building off the first volume of LGBT Studies in Video, this curated selection of LGBTQ+ videos cover various topics from Trans rights to AIDS activism to the intersectionality of gender identity and race. One of our primary partners for this collection is Frameline, a nonprofit media organization that produces the San Francisco International LGBT Film Festival, the oldest film festival devoted to lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender programming currently in existence.
Queer Pasts, 2023 Exhibits

Queer Pasts is a collection of primary source exhibits for students and scholars of queer history and culture. The database uses "queer" in its broadest and most inclusive sense, to embrace topics that are gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender and to include work on sexual and gender formations that are queer but not necessarily LGBT. Each of the document collections in the database includes a critical introductory essay that helps explain the significance of the primary sources in historical terms and in relation to previous scholarship.

The 2023 release will include six additional exhibits. Exhibits will cover queer suffrage, queer student organizing, Black gay men, HIV, cultural production, and more. Detailed exhibit descriptions coming soon.

Religion & Philosophy

Twentieth Century Religious Thought Library: Volume V, Religion in Video

This addition to the Twentieth Century Religious Thought Library will be a video collection covering various global religions including Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Buddhism, and more. It will discuss how different faith and belief systems intertwines with our daily life, from navigating personal relationships to contemplating our mortality and processing death. Other topics include sacred spaces, worship, art, fashion in religion, and the challenges of practicing faith in the modern world.
Global Studies

Contemporary Global Issues in Video

This is a video only collection that updates the themes in the existing Global Issues collections. Encompassing international documentaries on humanitarian and environmental issues, this collection includes films on child trafficking, life in refugee camps to post-conflict support and LGBTQ+ rights; anti-corruption protests and indigenous people’s movements across the globe; and the impact of technology on international security.

Trade and Globalization Studies Online

NEW!

This collection offers an examination of trade policies, financial crises, emerging markets, and technological innovations that unite the world in an ever-changing system of trade. It provides valuable historical context and policy insights with particular emphasis on real-world examples and events. The collection explores the profound societal impact of global trade through books and case studies, archival materials, and documentaries.

Political Science & Public Policy

Supreme Court Insight: 1897–1932

The comprehensive collection offers researchers a single location for discovery of Supreme Court dockets, complete opinions, joint appendices and briefs, including those filed by amicus curiae. This user-friendly interface makes it possible to narrow searches within a specific case on a dynamic page. These case compilation pages are organized to maximize understanding of judicial process and to help users quickly identify content in Petition, Merit, and Resolution stages. The original module covers 1933–1974, with updates available separately. Historic modules include 1933–1974 and 1897–1932.

Trends & Policy: U.S. Environment

This collection explores how human interaction with the environment is changed by government policies. It merges content from a variety of sources and presents them in a unique interface designed to connect various environmental policies of the United States to their trending results. Curated Topic Pages cover such areas as the Clean Air Act, the Endangered Species Act of 1973, fracking and the production of oil and gas, Native Americans, natural resources, pollution, health, and more.

Environmental-themed films illustrate the devastating impact of environmental degradation on the planet.
Trends & Policy: U.S. Criminal Justice

This collection merges content from a variety of sources and presents them in a unique interface designed to connect various criminal justice policies of the United States to their trending results. Included in this extensive module are all criminal justice-related public laws and hearings, Legislative Branch reports, Executive Branch reports and data, press releases, and present-day and historical news articles. The design of the product includes timelines, contextual topic pages for laws, concepts, and events, and rekeyed statistical content that allows researchers to work with the data.

ProQuest Executive Branch Documents Great Series and Reports, Part 1

This is the first module of a new program available on ProQuest Congressional which will offer Federal agency annual reports and other clearly defined Executive Branch series and periodicals, as well as selected monographs with significant research value. Content selection will focus on Executive Branch documents which have value for teaching, learning, and research when searched in conjunction with Legislative Branch materials. Every effort will be made to offer a complete run of each series so the user will be able to begin with current content and then go back in time to add context, and to offer newly digitized mid-twentieth century in cases where the content has not been digitized. Where possible, the content will bridge the gap between historic content in our existing Executive Branch historic collections and recent content going up to the present.

Supreme Court Insight Certiorari Denied, Part 3, 1954–1974

Each year, approximately 7,000-8,000 new cases are filed in the Supreme Court, but the Court agrees to hear only about 80 of those cases. The paid cases for which certiorari is denied — the cases not heard— are the cases included in our Certiori Denied collection. This is the third module in our Certiori Denied program. Sometimes the Court will continue to deny petitions on the same topic over a period of time before a case is finally accepted. Research on Certiori Denied cases might examine the petition language, topics, court of origin, role of certain organizations, attorneys, and Justices, as well as allow users with access to our heard case content to compare the denied cases to similar cases which were accepted. Denied case content includes dockets and petition stage briefs, including amicus briefs.

Curated Ebook Collections

New in Curated Topics: Library Curated Lists

Our new initiative aims to showcase the collection development expertise of academic librarians and foster collaboration, exchange knowledge, and amplify diverse perspectives in the library community.

The first Library Curated List in this series is focused on Inclusivity In Healthcare. Curated by Maria King, Subject Librarian at the School of Health and Social Care Information Services at Edinburgh Napier University, the titles selected tackle the important issue of ensuring students and researchers studying medicine, nursing and related studies in the health care field have access to materials to help them practice medicine for all individuals and have equitable access to healthcare services, resources, and opportunities.

Interested in partnering with us to create a Library Curated List? Please get in touch with Nevena.Zorova@Clarivate.com.

To explore curated lists, please check the respective Curated Topics section on LibCentral, OASIS and Rialto.

Migration Studies Ebook Collection

The Migration Studies Ebook Collection is curated to help librarians save time searching for the right Migration Studies content. New in Academic Complete

20 Years of Academic Ebook Curation Excellence

Celebrating over 20 years as the trusted ebook subscription for academic libraries, Academic Compete offers a critical mass of over 230,000+ multidisciplinary ebooks with 12,000 new titles already added in 2023.

The subscription brings over 40,000 notable titles from CHOICE, Resources for College Libraries, DOODY’s and the Book Citation Index that support existing curricula, emerging degrees and graduation rate trends.

O’Reilly for Higher Education

With a network of world-renowned technical innovators and corporate leaders, O’Reilly provides users with expertly curated content to keep users informed of what’s next in the fast-paced disciplines of business and technology.

New content and platform features added in 2023 include:

- AI-powered search - Sorting filters now reside on the left panel, optimizing space and simplifying topic and content discovery for students and researchers.

- Courses tailored by role and skill - Makes it easier for students to browse all 4,100+ courses and zero in on the exact courses they need for future careers.

- Over 1,900+ books, 500+ audiobooks and 390+ videos from renowned publishers like Packt, Ascent Audio, Wiley, Apress and more.
Rialto is an academic marketplace that creates a seamless workflow for selection and acquisition and allows libraries to make informed decisions in the book-buying process.

What’s New in Rialto:

- Rialto Partner Holdings Network: A new opt-in feature allows users to compare held materials across other Rialto institutions, including those outside of their network zone. Staff can also avoid duplicating purchases by identifying titles they can already borrow from nearby institutions that may not be part of their network zone.

- License Upgrade Requests: For titles already owned on Ebook Central, libraries will be able to request an upgrade to a higher license right from Rialto, without needing to navigate over to Ebook Central, for a more seamless upgrade experience.

- View Available Promotions: A new list of active ebook promotions will be browsable in Rialto to help libraries make the most of their budget.

OASIS

OASIS is a trusted ordering system for librarians with powerful tools and broad choices to support their collection development strategy. We continue to invest in OASIS to make selection and acquisition flow smoothly and efficiently.

What’s New in OASIS:

- RCL and OASIS Integration: For libraries with limited staff, time, and budgets, Resources for College Libraries (RCL) delivers vetted, value-added content to support collection services. RCL is a core bibliography developed by ACRL/Choice subject specialists that includes over 90,000 essential titles selected and peer-reviewed by a team of 700+ academic librarians and faculty. RCL database users can streamline acquisitions workflows by identifying key works in RCL, then going directly to the OASIS catalog to purchase titles.

- Platform enhancements: We continue to enhance OASIS based on customer feedback to ensure ease of use. Most recently, we’ve added saved preferences for sort settings, and coming soon is a new format filter on the Cart and Authorize Orders pages to help staff quickly take action on titles by format.

“I went from over a week to process all the different requests from the selectors, to doing processing for that same group of selectors in about 5 or 10 minutes.”
- Jennifer Matthews, Collection Strategy Librarian at Rowan University

Alma

Alma’s unified library management service, the anchor to Ex Libris Higher Education services platform, provides libraries with a cost-effective and flexible library management solution.

Some of the new developments streamlining librarian workflows are:

• Improved electronic resource management capabilities, including Alma Integration with InCites

• Upgrades within physical resource management, including new Overlap Analysis for physical titles

• New resource sharing enhancements originating from community-driven ideas

• Additional analytics features and an improved user interface

• Enhanced support for consortia, enabling collaborative and library-specific workspaces

• Upgraded acquisitions by enabling ability to edit invoice line/s associated with a ‘closed invoice’

Primo

Primo maximizes the exposure of library collections, while providing students and researchers with fast access to scholarly materials and intuitive ways to explore new content.

What’s new with Primo:

• New resource type filter ribbon, under the basic search box to improve searchability

• Additional UX enhancements, such as accessibility and ability for users to extend sessions

• Enhanced consistency of language (for books) and publication date fields

• New resource types: magazines, magazine articles, questionnaires

• Improved OA-handling, with the addition of Unpaywall as an indexed collection

• Rights updates enhancements

• 38 Quicklinks providers to improve full-text access

Summon

Summon is a resource discovery solution that enables patrons to uncover a wealth of academic content, while advancing information literacy.

What’s new with Summon:

• New search scopes allowing users to ‘pre-filter’ searches to specific local record groups

• Upgraded support for Google Analytics 4 and Tag Manager

• Enhanced consistency of language (for books) and publication date fields

• Improved OA-handling, with the addition of Unpaywall as an indexed collection

• Rights updates enhancements

• 38 Quicklinks providers to improve full-text access
Data Excellence

Librarians and their patrons can benefit from the best possible data and data management processes across Ex Libris services. Over 10 million portfolios from leading providers are being updated daily, with more providers and collections added every month. Internal workflows are being improved to ensure new collections are added faster and in a more transparent way. Further efforts are expanding capabilities to add authority vocabularies to further support diversity initiatives.

Linked Data

Ex Libris is continuing its ongoing effort to leverage the global metadata ecosystem to benefit libraries, librarians and patrons. Ex Libris is leading the way to Linked Data integration across its services plans to enable end to end linked data in production from cataloging to discovery by 2024, by collaborating with the user community, and other leading organizations. By bringing Linked Data into the library, you’re joining a metadata ecosystem of global discoverability and comprehensive interoperability. Cataloging is far more accurate and much less manual, while search results are relevant, reliable, informative and fast.

Rapido

Rapido, Ex-Libris unified library resource-sharing solution, gives patrons independent access to millions of external resources in two clicks. Connect your students to worldwide collections through your library’s discovery interface while the integrated automation capabilities handle your interlibrary-loan requests.

What’s new with Rapido:

- Rapido has reached 100 live customers after only one year on the market
- New integrations with Article Galaxy by Research Solutions and with CCC
- Linda Hall Library and Rapido are developing a net-lender workflow

Leganto

Leganto, a course resource list management solution, connects the library to teaching and learning. Increase the usage of the library resources in courses, streamline your library processing workflows, and gain actionable insights into course activities to enhance library services and impact.

What’s new with Leganto:

- Deeper integration with learning management systems (LMS), enabling a seamless experience for faculty and students
- Support for active learning, including Social Reading and Read & Respond assignments on course materials
- Enhanced functionality to support library productivity

RapidILL

RapidILL is an interlibrary-loan automation system tailored for article and book chapter requests. Thanks to RapidILL’s smart routing capabilities, the +600 member libraries see their requests automatically fulfilled 95% of the time, in 10 hours on average.

What’s new with RapidILL:

- 1/3 of all UK libraries are now RapidILL members
Library Mobile App

Library Mobile is a library app that is designed to enhance patron engagement and give greater visibility to library services and resources. Integrations, including Alma, Primo and Leganto, make it easier for patrons to access library materials on the go.

What's new with Library Mobile:

• User signup and social media credentials is now available for Facebook, Google and LI

• Coming soon! Patrons will be able to use the app to check out library books

campusM

campusM is a student engagement platform that helps universities engage with, support and retain their students. Our unified mobile and web app allows educators to easily offer a personalized digital companion for students throughout their academic journey: giving students seamless access to institutional services and resources, helping them navigate their day on campus, and empowering better decision-making about how they manage their time.

What's new with campusM:

• New Task Board feature released

• User signup and social media credentials is now available for Facebook, Google and LI

Clarivate & Ex Libris Integrations

Our teams have been working on exciting new integrations between our products to enhance value for libraries and their patrons. We have integrated holdings data from Alma into InCites to enhance collection management reporting and improve purchasing decisions. EndNote customers with Alma can take advantage of an integration to help patrons get to PDFs easier. In addition, we enriched the Central Discovery Index (CDI) with more accurate metadata and new collections from Web of Science to deliver a better search experience in both Primo and Summon.

New resources for academic libraries
ProQuest is continuing to optimize the ProQuest Platform based on customer and user feedback. Recent enhancements are available which offer new options for assessing and interacting with search results.

- Use Tools have been added to individual records in search results, offering users options to work directly within each search result item. As a user moves through the results list, individual items can be cited, emailed or saved to My Research. This change offers users more flexibility with how users interact with search results, offering options for individual result Use Tools, or Use Tools that apply to multiple items within the search results list.

- A “Quick Look” option is available on search results allowing users to quickly move item-by-item through the results list to get key information. Users see an overview of each item, including abstract and indexing if available and link to full text if available. This feature helps users gain a fast picture of how useful and relevant search results items are to their research question without needing to click into every result item.

- The search field present on results pages can now be hidden from view by the user if they desire, allowing for more focus on the results list.

More detail, including screenshots, can be found on the Support Center.

ProQuest Platform Enhancements Support Users with Features on Search Results Pages

Google Single-Sign-On (SSO)

Users accessing ProQuest Platform through their academic institution can now seamlessly authenticate into ProQuest Platform using their institutional Google Account credentials. Google Single-Sign-On is an authentication option for products available on the ProQuest platform and facilitates easy access to the library’s ProQuest databases.

Students, faculty, and staff have one fewer password to remember, and librarians and electronic resource administrators can use the Google Account capabilities to configure and manage product access for their users. Once logged-in, users can easily share and save articles using Google Workspace for Education tools like Google Docs.

Google SSO is just the latest in a series of platform enhancements by ProQuest in recent years to facilitate deeper integration with student and faculty workflows.

To learn more about configuring Google Account Single-Sign-On for your ProQuest solutions, visit the Support Center article.
Data insights from Web of Science are being integrated into ProQuest Platform, offering ProQuest users key metrics to help inform their research journey at their point of need. These enhancements connect features of the Web of Science, Journal Citation Reports, and ProQuest platforms across publication titles, documents and authors.

- Journal Citation Reports journal metrics in ProQuest Platform help users assess the world’s leading journals with publisher-neutral data and gain insight into publications to make informed, confident decisions.

- Web of Science citation counts in ProQuest Platform support confident discovery and assessment, helping users quickly locate key papers on topics of interest and stay up to date with the latest research.

- Coming soon: Web of Science Researcher Profile information in ProQuest Platform will help researchers determine which authors are subject matter experts on a topic to identify key opinion leaders and find collaborators.

These enhancements support ProQuest users with insights and key metrics at their point need.

ProQuest Historical Newspapers

Historical International Newspapers: London Evening Standard (1827-Current)

A London based paper, with national and commonwealth influence, focused on the social narrative of and for the man on the street, complementing the generalized perspective of the national titles, alongside the raw, first-impression coverage of international events from correspondents placed all over Europe, America and the Commonwealth, and national political developments well before the national papers hit the streets the following day.

Historical Black Newspapers: Kansas City Call (1919–2010)

NEW!

This Black weekly newspaper was founded in 1919 to provide leadership for the Black community. It quickly became one of the most successful Black newspapers in the U.S. covering civil rights issues and fighting segregation, discrimination, and other important issues of the African American community. The paper has a strong history of encouraging African Americans to register and vote and of covering many key Black issues including school segregation and urban development. The Kansas City Call fought to have Blacks serve on Kansas City juries and called for a reduction of violence within Black communities. It was the first African American newspaper to become an International News Service member in 1948 when it subscribed to one of the major wire services.

NEW!

Stretching back to 1964 and representing the heyday of Fleet Street feature publishing, creative advertising and photography, this archive is a rich source of historical and cultural journalistic content. Published as part of The Observer, The Observer Magazine features everything from interviews with A-list stars to moving and inspirational personal stories and social issues. Leading columnists of the day offer words of wit and wisdom, interspersed with stunning photo-reportage from around the world. This collection pairs well with the Historical International Newspapers: The Guardian and The Observer.

Historical International Newspapers: ABC (Spain) (1903–2010)

COMING SOON!

First published in Madrid in 1903, ABC is the oldest newspaper still operating in Madrid, the second largest newspaper in Spain, and one of three newspapers of record in Spain. It has always been considered the most well written among Spanish newspapers with many great writers and intellectuals contributing over the years. Politically, ABC is known for supporting the Spanish monarchy and for its conservative political views. The newspaper uses extensive photography and was the first European newspaper to use photo engraving. ABC has a dedicated foreign bureau and offers considerable editorial space to foreign news, and coverage of the arts and Spanish culture.
Historical U.S. Standalone Newspapers:
Barron’s Magazine
(1921–2010)

Founded by Clarence Barron a successful Boston journalist and subsequent owner of Dow Jones & Company, Barron’s has been a leading U.S. weekly since 1921. Barron, considered the founder of modern financial journalism, created his magazine after his aggressive and in-depth coverage of Charles Ponzi which led to the schemer’s unraveling and conviction. His intense approach to find the financial truth paved the way for closer scrutiny of corporate financial information and thus made his magazine required reading for investors and financiers. Barron’s reports financial news, in-depth analysis and commentary on stocks and investments. It reflects on how markets moved across the world the previous week and provides outlook and reports on the week ahead.

Historical Newspapers: The Washington Post (New ownership years 1941-1984+)

Over forty years of The Washington Post, the political newspaper of record in the U.S., are offered for the first time for ownership. From 1941 covering events such as the bombing of Pearl Harbor and WWII, the cold war and the development and growth of post-war America, these are essential years in understanding the events and politics of the U.S. The assassinations of JFK, MLK and RFK, anti-war protests and the fight for civil rights are among the many historic events in this timeframe with The Washington Post at the center of it all. Spanning nearly eight presidencies and three wars, this content also includes the historic publishing of the Pentagon papers and Woodward and Bernstein’s Pulitzer Prize-winning Watergate coverage.

Historical Newspapers: U.S. State Collections

ProQuest Historical Newspapers includes thirty-one U.S. state collections, each featuring the most important titles covering a specific state in the United States. Access these state collections, many with titles going back over one hundred and fifty years, and give your users insight into everything from local government decisions to historic moments that may not have been reported anywhere else. The U.S. State Collections include Alabama, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Hawaii, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin.

Future Additions Coming Soon

ProQuest will continue to add newspapers to the U.S. State Collections. Key titles will be added to California, Florida, Kentucky, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Texas, Washington, and South Carolina.

Historical Newspapers: U.S. Collection

COMING SOON

Launching at the end of 2023, Historical Newspapers: U.S. Collection offers access to all U.S. State Collections in one robust resource with end-to-end coverage of each newspaper title from the historical first edition to current. Providing access to over 130 image-based digitized newspapers, users can browse each edition as it was printed – including articles, photos, advertisements, obituaries, and editorial cartoons. The collection includes enhanced searching with the ability to search or filter by newspaper title or state for focused results.

Access to a diverse range of newspapers from different regions can provide valuable insights into the historical, cultural, and sociopolitical fabric of the United States. The U.S. Collection can be used by researchers to explore how local newspapers covered significant historical events or movements, offering a grassroots perspective on major events like civil rights, wars, or natural disasters. Political science researchers can study how local newspapers report on elections, political candidates, and campaign strategies in different regions. The ability to research local perspectives across time and compare regions can be applied to a broad variety of fields including history, sociology, journalism, political science, media studies, and more.

"The variety of content users have access to in one product is remarkable"
We continue to add new features and content to a collection of scholarship and literary works as diverse as your students.

What’s New:

• Hit Visualization — Shows users visually where their hits are concentrated in the text and allows them to click straight to them, often allowing them to skip to the parts of the text most relevant to their search.

• Close Reading — New features support the deep and thorough analysis of literary works. Software enhancements allow users to sort by and preview keyword occurrence within context in the results list. Users can also see hits of key terms in the table of contents alongside the text saving hours of time combing through texts.

• Topic Pages guide students to content they may not have thought to seek out. Extra pages have been added including 400 more biography pages and 200 pages covering movements, key works, and new authors.

Recent content additions:

• Over 400 new and updated author biographies have been added and appear on dedicated author pages to support contextual understanding of the lives and works of authors.

• 30 new Topic Pages covering movements, key works, and new authors have been created to provide context and support by uniting resources and providing quick access points to critical content.

In a recent Web of Science customer survey, the majority of respondents agreed that dissertations and theses are an essential part of understanding the research landscape and add value to the Web of Science by providing users simultaneous access to unpublished and published multidisciplinary scholarship. In response, Clarivate has integrated ProQuest Dissertations & Theses metadata and abstracts into the Web of Science.

Introducing ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Citation Index

This integration between ProQuest Dissertations and Theses and the Web of Science enables researchers to seamlessly uncover early career, post-graduate research in the form of more than 5.5 million dissertations and theses from over 4,100 institutions in more than 60 countries, alongside journal articles, conference proceedings, research data, books, preprints and patents.

Help your researchers maximize the results of limited research time by providing a more holistic view of the scholarly landscape within a single platform.

Improve literature reviews:
- Execute more comprehensive literature reviews by including unpublished scholarship and more diverse perspectives.

Discover emerging trends: Identify emerging areas of research and the post-graduate programs that are engaged in this research.

Incorporate new sources into your study: Uncover detailed research findings and explore a set of methodologies that are not published in peer-reviewed literature.

Showcase your achievement to peers and evaluators: Claim your dissertation or thesis in your Web of Science Researcher Profile to make your work more visible.

For joint subscribers of the Web of Science and ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Global Global, direct full-text linking allows researchers to delve into more than three million full-text documents on the ProQuest Platform without interruption, eliminating barriers and facilitating a deeper exploration of relevant research.

More enhancements coming soon

We are working diligently to introduce even more features to ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Citation Index. By the end of 2023 we will add indexed, linked cited references for dissertation and thesis records, further connecting graduate work to the vast Web of Science network.

By bridging the gap between published and unpublished works, this collaboration empowers researchers and graduate students to achieve their research goals more efficiently and effectively.
Helping libraries meet their objectives

New resources for academic libraries
Elevate Your Library

By unifying and streamlining workflows, librarians can deliver greater value through customer-facing services and better support teaching and learning.

Get More Done

Alma

Unify your print, electronic and digital collection management in an intuitive and focused way. Alma eliminates time-consuming manual processes and siloed systems, reduces costs and increases reliability.

Rialto

Rialto is an academic marketplace that creates a seamless workflow for selection and acquisition and allows libraries to make informed decisions in the book-buying process.

“The staff response has been overwhelmingly positive. Not all our subject selectors have Alma accounts, so they couldn’t see any live numbers for their funds until we got Rialto. This has been a huge improvement for them.”

Our research and learning solutions empower researchers, faculty and students to succeed throughout their academic careers while enabling your library to demonstrate its impact on the curriculum and contribution to research excellence.

With databases designed to support scholarship at every level across disciplines, you can provide cost-effective access to premium content and tools that meet the demand for digital and make research and learning more engaging and effective for everyone—from first year undergraduates through to publishing authors. Our solutions bridge library and learning management systems so that your staff can partner effectively with faculty at scale to improve student learning, and help you easily track your institution’s research output to show how your collections align.

Our solutions can help you:

• Offer the authoritative content needed to support student and instructor success
• Support faculty and graduate-level research
• Help libraries make limited resources go further
• Demonstrate the library’s impact on educational outcomes

Solutions to support teaching and learning:

ProQuest One Academic

ProQuest One Academic is the only academic resource that includes essential authoritative content of this variety—search journals, news, videos, eBooks, dissertations, magazines and more—across disciplines so libraries can meet the teaching and learning needs of a diverse faculty and student body.

Web of Science Core Collection

The Web of Science Core Collection is a multidisciplinary citation database that connects papers from the world’s leading journals, conferences and books in a linked network that helps undergraduates develop information literacy skills.

With the Core Collection, students can quickly evaluate an author’s authority and the credibility of academic sources, understand the importance of citing sources in academic writing, and explore a citation network that shows how scholarly ideas evolve over time. Faculty can easily stay abreast of fields that are expanding rapidly and changing daily, find key papers to use in instruction, and prepare students for graduate school with the same tools used at research universities.
Primary Source Collections

Primary Sources and Historical Collections enable your institution to advance scholarship and engage students with content from a diverse array of voices. With access to over 500M pages of content carefully matched to scholarly publishing and research trends, scholars can conduct novel research that addresses the underserved and overlooked. Students can use timelines and topic pages to easily find and examine evidence, compare perspectives and draw conclusions from curated content spanning borders from antiquity to the 21st century.

Leganto

Leganto is a course materials management solution that bridges the divide between library and learning management systems so that you can partner effectively with faculty at scale to deliver outstanding learning experiences for students and demonstrate impact on the curriculum.

TDM Studio

TDM Studio offers the library an opportunity to engage directly with researchers and support their evolving data and language processing needs. Through TDM Studio, the library can leverage the power of their resources to help researchers gain immediate access to content that is already cleared for text and data mining.
